

There's a peaceful side to nature,
There's a powerful side as well.
When you breathe the air, after a mountain rain,
There's a magic scent that blends the world together in a balance,
That embraces all.

You have to be still, then,
And you need to be in motion.

You have to be swift, then,
And you need to go slow.

You have to be clever, then,
And you need to be simple.

You have to be prompt, then,
And you need to wait forever.

You have to be bold, then,
And you need to be quiet.

You can live forever, in a moment.
You can live forever,
When there is a magic scent that blends the whole world
together in a balance,
That embraces all.